Diffusion through a membrane? | Yahoo Answers

Explain why some substances were able to pass through the membrane while others were not able to. Only some substances were able to pass through because the cell is semi-permeable and will only let certain substances pass through. The membrane will allow small particles to pass through, while large molecules, such as starch, cannot.

Diffusion Through a Membrane Lab Flashcards | Quizlet

Diffusion is one form of passive transport that doesn't require the expenditure of cellular energy. A molecule can diffuse passively through the cell membrane if it's lipid-soluble, uncharged, and very small, or if a carrier molecule can assist it. The unassisted diffusion of very small or lipid-soluble particles is called simple diffusion.
